KeepYourHomeIP to Launch New VPN Routers and Plug-and-Play Solution at Web Summit 2024

KeepYourHomeIP offers VPN technology that enables users to create a secure, private network using their home IP address, even while on the go. The company will be showcasing its latest VPN router products, Maui and Capri, together with the new plug-and-play solution, at Web Summit 2024 in Lisbon. These routers give users the ability to control their own VPN setup by connecting through a private server at home, with a travel router providing secure access from anywhere in the world.

Why It Matters

With increasing concerns over online privacy, users such as digital nomads and remote workers are seeking solutions that give them control over their data. KeepYourHomeIP's dual-router system allows users to manage their own secure VPN without relying on third-party services, offering greater privacy and peace of mind.

Event Details

- Who: KeepYourHomeIP
- What: Introducing Maui and Capri VPN routers, together with the new plug-and-play solution
- When: Web Summit, November 2024
- Where: Lisbon, Portugal
- Why: To provide users with an easy, secure, and private VPN solution that's fully under their control

Future Plans

At Web Summit, KeepYourHomeIP will demonstrate how its products work and discuss the benefits of its VPN router solutions with potential partners and investors. Attendees are welcome to visit the booth for more information and product demonstrations.
