Gem Soft, a global IT hub, is joining Web Summit

Targeted at mid-sized and enterprise businesses, Gem Soft's new B2B product, Gem Team, provides a robust and cost-effective alternative to popular communication platforms like Zoom, Google Meet, Microsoft Teams, and Slack. Gem Team offers comprehensive security features, including end-to-end encryption, and customizable access controls to meet the unique needs of larger organizations.

The application allows users to send text, audio, and multimedia messages in both individual and group chats. It also offers features such as scheduled deletion of sensitive messages, meeting recording, and screen sharing during calls.

Gem Soft is an international IT services provider with 7 years of experience. We offer software solutions to clients in the Gulf Cooperation Council, Southeast Asia, and the Americas.

Another key product of the brand is the superapp Gem Space. The app has been installed over 40 million times in 176 countries. This international superapp offers features such as messaging, video conferencing, and a smart news feed with a recommendation system, themed channels, and AI-powered bots.
