

One Young World Joins Web Summit 2024

Release at web summit.

One Young World, the global community for young leaders, are participating in this year's Web Summit in Lisbon, 2024.

One Young World is the global community for young leaders. Its mission is to create a fair, sustainable future for all, by developing young leaders who are taking action to solve the world's big challenges. It builds young leaders' expertise, elevates their profiles and inspires them to increase their impact through its Global Leadership Programme and annual One Young World Summit.

The One Young World Summit is the landmark leadership event of the year, bringing together 2,000 impactful young leaders representing 194+ countries, to tackle some of the biggest challenges facing humanity. In Canada this year, the Summit focused on the future of AI, climate action, peacebuilding and health equality, with a special focus on platforming young Indigenous voices.

Don't miss your chance to find out more about how you can join the One Young World Ambassador Community. You can find One Young World in the Web Summit Exhibition Centre at Pavilion 5.

"Hot on the heels of the One Young World Summit which took place in Montreal this September, we are beyond excited to be joining Web Summit for another opportunity to engage with so many different voices and organizations on so many important topics. We want to understand how we can collaborate meet the UN Sustainable Development Goals and build a fair and sustainable future for all. We look forward to connecting," – Stefan Kovacevic, Director of Partnerships, One Young World.
